Devin Atteln, Colleague of the American Guild of Organists, (CAGO), is organist at St. Norbert Abbey in De Pere, Wisconsin, where he began working in 2012. Some of Devin's responsibilities at the Abbey include playing organ for daily liturgies, including sung Liturgy of the Hours and Mass, planning music for liturgies, serving on the Liturgy Committee, and organizing the Canon John Bruce Memorial Organ Concert Series.

Devin completed his Bachelor of Music degree with a double major in German at St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wisconsin, where he studied organ with Jeffrey Verkuilen. Devin earned a Master of Sacred Music degree (Organ Performance) from the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Indiana. While studying at Notre Dame, his professors included R. Douglas Reed and Craig Cramer. Devin has also studied improvisation with John Schwandt at the American Organ Academy outside of Canton, Ohio.

Devin's professional affiliations include the Organ Historical Society, with whom he was named a Biggs Fellow in 2014, National Association of Pastoral Musicians, Westfield Center for Historical Keyboard Studies, and the American Guild of Organists, with which he serves as dean on the local chapter's board of directors.

Outside of music Devin enjoys Star Wars, watching Jeopardy!, cats, and foreign languages/cultures.
